ABSENTEE BALLOT GUIDE
2016 PRIMARY ELECTION

The Primary Election is held to nominate candidates to represent the political parties in the General Election.

This nomination process, called a Single Party Primary, asks voters to select candidates from the party of their choice. Similarly, candidates who do not belong to a specific party will be nominated to the General Election ballot as a nonpartisan candidate.

The State of Hawaii does not conduct a Presidential Primary. Qualified political parties provide candidates for president and vice president to appear on the General Election ballot.

Each political party, including the nonpartisan candidates, is indicated by its own ballot.
